

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

An appliance is configured by sending an electronic data file to the appliance. The appliance is automatically configured based on the electronic data file, which contains configuration information.